Holy Week

Holy Week is the church's great celebration of life in all its dimensions: communion with others in the Spirit, the call to suffer if necessary for the sake of the gospel, the sometimes loneliness of total commitment, and the glory of living in the Christ, whatever the cost. It is a week to recall your own cost of living the Christian life and drawing strength for the journey from the one who has lived it before us and now fills us with his own eternal life.

Children's Corner

The Easter Walk, previously scheduled for night, is cancelled because of the stormy forecast. It is rescheduled for next Wednesday night. We'll get you more information as soon as details are in place. We need 1 female and 1 male chaperone to attend Passport July 31- Aug 3! If you are over 17 and interested in helping serve in this way, please contact

A note from Rosemary Richards

My daughter Elizabeth was discharged from inpatient rehab last week. She will now go to outpatient rehab daily. The doctors say this will be a year-long process. We are so thankful for your prayers and expressions of support as she continues to recover:

"Dia de los Ninos/Dia de los Libros" Day of the Children/Day of the Book.

a celebration with emphasis on literacy for children

Saturday, April 27, 10 am - 2 pm.

2815 Speight Ave.

Hosted by the Waco Hispanic Museum.

Becky Brumley, director of Red Oak Books in Fort Worth, has given us more than 200 Spanish/English books to distribute to preschoolers at this event. We will also read books to children at the fiesta. Older children can be readers, too! If you would like to be part of the celebration of books and children, contact Louis Garcia or Sharlande.

Spring Picnic at the Fields / April 28

Celebrations . . .

Gordon Lawrence's daughter, Stacy and her husband, Matt, had a baby girl on Tuesday. Lia Rai has four older brothers and sisters: Elijah, Isaac, Michaela and Valerie.

Prayers for . . .

Marian Funderburk had her post-op visit for the lumpectomy she had last week. She says, "I am really blessed with reassuring news."

Steve Swanson's dad, Mike Swanson, needed to return to the hospital after heart surgery. He is now home again.

Kathy Reid was in a car accident last Friday. Her arms were slightly "burned" from the air bags, and her car will probably be totaled, but we say "Amen" to her words: "The important thing is that I'm OK."

Kyndall and Baby B, who need your prayers.

Nathan Stone as he continues his treatment.

Don SoRelle will have day surgery on his hand this Friday.

Magi and David Davis, who will be with Dorothy Clark's other daughters and some of her grandchildren this weekend in Avon Park, Florida, for Dorothy's graveside service.

Unpacking Privilege: A Four-Part Series

April 24, May 1, May 8, and May 15 please join us for a special Wednesday night seminar series as we explore the topic of privilege and power with the help of wise and dynamic speakers such as Dr. Elise Edwards, Dr. Rod Hetzel, and Dr. Emma Wood.

Soup Supper

We give thanks for a meaningful Sunday evening as children, youth, and adults gathered to hear about the faith of Central American refugees that pass through La Casa de la Maria y

Marta in San Antonio. John Garland told a story that we will never forget. He told it passionately and compassionately, through the lens of the gospel that has taken on new meaning for him through meeting people of faith who arrive at the doorstep of San Antonio Mennonite Church.

This year Glenda Ramsower made almost all of the soup bowls, a generous gift she always offers. Thanks also to Paul McCoy for his bowls, as well as others who brought bowls from home as our numbers for seats, bowls, and soup rose on Saturday and Sunday. If you would still like a bowl, choose from those in the hall outside the office. A minimum $10 donation per bowl is suggested. Make your check for bowls or for a donation to La Casa de Maria y Marta to Lake Shore and write "Soup Supper" in the memo line.

Thanks to Sandy, Donna Casstevens, Carolyn Rodabouh, Kay Avant, and Myrl Luper for making the soup. We will put copies of the soup recipes in the newsletter next week.

Several of you have asked how we can continue to help La Casa. This week you can bring Matchbox cars and coloring books. We will find out other ways to help and let you know.
